

Downtown condo to be featured on Fine Living

Business Courier of Cincinnati - October 26, 2006

by Laura Baverman

Staff Reporter

The Fine Living Network has chosen the model condo at downtown's Edge condominiums to film a new 10-show series called American Shopper, that will air beginning Thanksgiving weekend.

The show, which features the latest home gadgets available online, will be produced by Jay Shatz, former WCPO newscaster. He chose the Edge because of its views and unique loft-style living.

The Edge, located at Third and Culvert streets, will undergo a $35 million transformation in March 2007. The developer, Skyloft LLC, will add six floors to the six-floor building, creating 77 loft condos, two stories of parking and a level of office space.

Units range in price from $149,900 to $1.5 million. So far, 22 units are under contract, averaging about $380,000 each.

For more information on the Edge, see www.edgecondo.com.

The Fine Living Network, a Scripps cable television network brand, airs on digital cable through Time Warner or Insight.

E.W. Scripps (NYSE: SSP), headquartered in Cincinnati, operates cable networks, newspapers, broadcast television stations, electronic commerce and interactive media services.